Here, Between
G.O.P. & Democrats

Sen. J. William Fulbright, Democrat, expressed outrage in the Sunday newspapers because a printed message going out with Social Security checks points out that increased benefits are due to the efforts of Richard Nixon, Republican.

But this, you might say, is a game that started with the Democrats. I can document this for it happened to me—and I don't recall any righteous outburst from Bill Fulbright when I was the victim of dirty pool.

In 1957 I assembled a voluntary organization and circulated a petition to refer a legislative act, No. 19, raising the state sales tax from 2 to 3 per cent to a popular vote in the general election of 1968.

The Act went on the ballot and I went on state-wide television at my own expense to campaign for repeal. Beginning on Page 22 of my TV script is my personal story about federal interference, as follows:

"On Oct. 3 (1958) an old man brought a slip of paper to the office of Hope Star and told me it was mailed in the same envelope with his welfare check, which as you know, is covered by both federal and state money. The slip said:

"The money which makes your grant possible comes mostly from the sales tax. This tax will be voted on November 4 in the general election. Your vote for Act 19 will prevent this cut in your grant. Get your friends and relatives to vote for Act 19."

"That same night I sent photostats of the threat to Little Rock to ascertain what authority Welfare Commissioner Carl Adams had to include electioneering material in a mailing of federal-participating funds... but I got nowhere.

"In the Little Rock Democrat October 6 Commissioner Adams confirmed the state-wide mailing and said federal authorities had approved of the notice before it was sent out.

"On October 9, I reported this matter by telegram to Miss Kathryn Goodwin, Acting Director, Bureau of Public Assistance, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Washington, D.C. and asked for a federal statement.

"The following day Miss Goodwin wired me from Washington:

"We have requested a complete report on this situation. In the meantime we would prefer not to comment."

That was 14 years ago—and the federalists haven't investigated to this good day.

That was under a Democratic administration—and Bill Fulbright then had nothing to say.

But today we have a Republican administration—and J. William is full of fire and smoke.

I'm looking down the honorable Senator's throat—for I am armed with my TV script and a taped transcript of the actual speech from KTHV, Channel 11, Little Rock, plus a vast file of newspaper tear-sheets and wire reports.

Dirty pool? You name it—every party plays it.

HORN FOILS ROBBER

OPPORTUNITY, Mont. (AP)

—The would-be thief who attempted to steal an automobile here last weekend apparently needs some instruction in the workings of electrical systems.

Authorities report he crossed the wrong wires while trying to start the vehicle, with the result that he "hot-wired" the horn instead of the starter.

Preparing for the fair

Preparations for the 28th annual Third District Livestock Show began in earnest Sunday and one of the first educational booths set up at Fair Park Coliseum was sponsored by the Sevier County

Extension Homemakers Club. The booth, dealing with "U.S. No. 1 Enemy—Drugs" is just one of many set up at the Coliseum. (See article at right.)

Fair begins today!

The annual parade through downtown Hope kicked off the 28th annual Third District Livestock Show here this afternoon. Floats from several counties filed through downtown streets and corresponded with the opening of the Sonny Myers Amusement Show and exhibits at Fair Park.

Opening day of the 17-county extravaganza is highlighted by the Fair Queen Contest set for 8 p.m. tonight (Monday) at Fair Park Coliseum.

More than 20 girls will be vying for the titles of "Miss" and "Little Miss District Fair." Contestants are from the following counties — Clark, Columbia, Garland, Hempstead, Hot Spring, Howard, LaFayette, Little River, Miller, Montgomery, Nevada, Ouachita, Pike, Polk, Saline, Sevier and Union.

Tuesday has been scheduled "FFA Day" at the fair, and the annual FFA Jamboree will be held at 8 p.m. in the Coliseum.

Judging in the open dairy, swine and sheep divisions of the fair are scheduled Wednesday, and the "Open Horse Show" is slated for 8 p.m. at the fairgrounds.

A free quarter horse show will start the day's activities on Thursday (8 a.m.) and judging of the open beef cattle and junior beef cattle is also scheduled for that morning. The judging of the fat steer classes begins at 1:30 p.m. Thursday. Thursday also is the first day of the annual rodeo, produced by Wing Ranch of Bogata, Tex. The rodeo will run through Saturday night.

The junior fat calf lamb sales begins at 10 a.m. Friday, concluding the scheduled events at the fair.

In addition, educational exhibits from most of the 17 participating counties will be on display throughout the fair at the coliseum.

Nixon pressing case for monetary system change

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon presses the U.S. case for reform of the world monetary system today, kicking off the annual meeting of the 24-nation International Monetary Fund.

Nixon's scheduled appearance diverted some of the attention from a growing debate over the future leadership of the IMF as it starts the long process of shaping a new financial system.

U.S. Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz added new fuel to the debate Sunday, telling newsmen that the United States opposes re-election of IMF Managing Director Pierre-Paul Schweitzer because it wants a "fresh outlook" and a younger person in the job.

Schweitzer, a 60-year-old Frenchman who has headed the IMF since 1963, said only a day earlier that he wants to remain in his post despite U.S. opposition. Unless he is named to another five-year term by September 1973, he must step down.

As finance ministers and central bankers and their aides gathered at the Sheraton-Park Hotel here, they were met with some of the tightest security in the history of IMF meetings.

Nixon administration spokesmen said the extra security was ordered by Nixon to protect the government officials from any possible terrorist acts.

For Nixon, today's will be the first meeting with the official who directed the monetary order he struck down in August of 1971 by suspending the U.S. guarantee to redeem dollars for gold.

In the past year, Nixon occasionally has mentioned that the United States wants not another patching of the monetary system but fundamental reform, more in tune with modern worldwide economic conditions.

The rhetoric over the need for reform was temporarily thrown into the background by the Schweitzer dispute. Several European countries are lining up behind Schweitzer. Others are saying the Schweitzer issue should not detract from the real work of the meeting.

Schweitzer had said earlier that he did not understand the U.S. opposition, since, he said, Nixon himself had praised the realignment of currency-exchange rates a year ago as one of the world's most historic monetary agreements. The IMF played a big role in that agreement, said the director.

In his opening remarks, prepared for today's session, Schweitzer said that while a number of differences exist on how the system should be reformed, the disagreements are not insurmountable.

In diplomatic language, he suggested that the competing major industrial countries will have to be prepared to change their minds—"to modify their national positions in favor of an international consensus."

McGovern demands names of Republican contributors

BILLINGS, Mont. (AP) — Sen. George McGovern, describing President Nixon's administration as one "bought lock, stock and barrel by the special interest," is drumming a demand that the Republicans name the donors of what he calls a $10-million secret campaign slush fund.

The assertion that big business and special interests dominate the Nixon government has become a central one in McGovern's Democratic presidential campaign. He made it his text again today after pressing it from Brooklyn to Billings Sunday.

"If there was ever an administration that was bought lock, stock and barrel by the special interests of this country, it's the Nixon-Agnew administration," McGovern told more than 700 persons at a $50 fund-raising luncheon in New York.

At home in Sioux Falls, S.D., McGovern called that the principal issue of the 1972 campaign. He addressed an airport rally where, police said, 2,500 persons showed up. Aides sold 1,500 tickets to a $25-a-plate dinner.

In Billings, today, McGovern said in a speech prepared for the Western States Water and

Power Conference:

"Under the administration of Richard Nixon, the banks, the conglomerate giants, the oil and utility corporations and their coal subsidiaries have received the tender, loving care of our government, and the little fellow has had benign neglect."

McGovern said no administration since that of Warren G. Harding has been so beholden to big business as Nixon's.

He aid the Interior Department and the Federal Power Commission have been "loaded with friends of the utilities and big oil companies...."

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — "It took one wall where the 17 kids were and just pushed it," one witness gasped after a burning plane slashed into an ice cream parlor jammed with children and their parents, killing 22 persons.

Authorities said one entire family of four died in the crash Sunday along with at least 10 children. Twenty-six others — mostly children — were injured when the private plane catapulted across a highway shortly after takeoff and hit Farrell's Ice Cream Parlor.

The pilot of the Korean war-vintage jet fighter survived and was quoted as saying, "I'm sorry! I'm sorry!" as he was pulled from the wreckage.

Describing the scene at the wall where the 17 youngsters had been sitting, Dave Thorton said, "They were all in a big pile. It just pushed them." He ran to the crash area from a nearby bowling alley.

A 12-year-old girl in the shop crowded with about 100 persons said she thought it was "a gimmick" to accompany the serving of a special ice cream sundae. "Then everyone started screaming and running."

Don McClusky, a management trainee working at the store, said a birthday party group of 17 persons was seated at the table at the front window and had just been served with ice cream, candy and favors when the plane crashed through the wall beside them. Most of the dead were found in that part of the store.

The crash occurred as the F86 Sabrejet was taking off from Sacramento's Executive Airport after participating in an air show. The plane had been converted to civilian use.

Witnesses said the plane appeared to lose power in the takeoff. It crashed on an old levee barrier at the end of the runway and hurtled across a four-lane highway.

The craft burst into flames about the time it hit three autos parked by the front entrance to the ice cream parlor. Two of the autos were rammed with the burning plane through the front of the building.

Twenty of the dead were tentatively identified as customers in the store. Two others had been seated in one of the autos crushed by the jet.

Coroner George Nielsen said some identifications might be delayed because the fingerprints of children usually aren't on file.

He said he had few calls from parents, possibly because some of the parents were among the hospitalized.

The pilot was identified as Richard Bingham, 36, of Novato, Calif., general manager of Spectrum Air.

Bingham was listed in satisfactory condition with fractures at Sacramento Medical Center.

A witness said a man with a pair of wire cutters ran to the blue and gold jet — risking the flames — and cut the pilot loose.

The witness told newsmen the pilot was crying and saying over and over again, "I'm sorry! I'm sorry!"

Heat from the crash charred paint on parked automobiles 60 feet away. The impact knocked over mannequins in windows at the other end of the block.

Witnesses gave contradictory accounts of when the fire started, but several said that the wings — which contain the fuel tanks — were severed from the rest of the craft as it roared toward the ice cream parlor.

All of the other stores in the plush shopping center were closed or had just one or two persons each inside.

"There was an explosion with a ball of flames. It was just huge. It was bright orange and yellow with black smoke around it," said Barbara Fine, who was in a fabric store behind the ice cream parlor.

"People weren't crying and screaming. It wasn't hysteria—people were in shock," she said. "Some people were bleeding, and one child I was comforting was burned very badly on her feet and legs."

Farrell's was a favorite spot for neighborhood children. A visit there was a special treat. Again and again, comments were heard in the crowd when each family last was in the store: "Just a couple days ago." "Just last week. We sat in that very chair."

Martial law brings arrests

MANILA (AP) — Fifty-three prominent Filipinos, including two provincial governors, six members of Congress and seven newspapermen, have been arrested in the Manila region since martial law was proclaimed over the weekend, the presidential palace announced today.

Press Secretary Francisco Tatad provided the first official confirmation of the arrests over the single television channel still operating. All but selected media outlets have been closed and news being sent abroad is censored.

Tatad spoke as the island nation awaited details of far-reaching reforms planned by President Ferdinand E. Marcos' government to create what it described as a "new society."

Marcos said he was assuming martial law powers and reorganizing his government to block an insurrection threatened by Mao-oriented Communists and to improve conditions for the masses who live in acute poverty.

In his announcement, Tatad said four of the prominent persons detained had subsequently been released.

Among those still under detention were Sen. Benigno Aquino Jr., a leader of the opposition Liberal party, an outspoken critic of Marcos and a possible candidate for the presidency in 1973 elections; Sen. Jose Diokno, member of the civil liberties union; and Sen. Ramon Mitra, another prominent member of the opposition.

A palace official said the announced arrests covered only the Greater Manila area.

In lightning moves, Marcos closed down all but one of Manila's 15 daily newspapers, shut six of the city's seven television stations and nine of the major radio stations.

Ireland hits again by violence

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Fresh guerrilla violence hit Northern Ireland as some of the province's rival political leaders gathered today to seek a solution to three years of sectarian strife.

William Whitelaw, Britain's chief minister for Ulster, issued the invitation for the meeting at a closely guarded hotel in Darlington, Northern England. It represented a major attempt to solve politically the strife between the Roman Catholic minority demanding union with the Irish Republic and the Protestants calling for continued British rule.

But observers said prospects for real progress were dim because of the absence of the main political voice of the Catholics, the Social Democratic and Labor Party (SDLP), and the Protestant-based Democratic Unionist party.

The SDLP refused to attend until internment of suspected guerrillas is ended and all detainees are released. The Protestant Democratic Unionist party, led by the Rev. Ian Paisley, refused the invitation because an official inquiry has not been made into the killing of two Protestants by soldiers during a Belfast riot.

The most important delegation at the meeting was the Unionist party, headed by former Prime Minister Brian Faulkner, who governed until last March when Britain took over direct rule.

The other two parties attending were the Alliance party — a coalition of moderate Catholics and Protestants — and the Northern Ireland Labor party.

In Ulster, meanwhile, a bomb containing about 60 pounds of explosives wrecked the courthouse at Newry, near the border with the Irish Republic. The blast occurred after three men left the bomb on the courthouse steps and soldiers tried to set it off with a bazooka Sunday.

A parade by 1,000 persons in Belfast turned into a riot Sunday night. The marchers, protesting Britain's internment of suspected guerrillas and the setting up of special no-jury courts to try them, began hurling stones at soldiers. The troops replied with rubber bullets, but no injuries were reported.

Japan's flag flying again over Peking

PEKING (AP) — The rising sun flag of Japan flew at Peking for the first time in 27 years today as Prime Ministers Chou En-lai and Kakuei Tanaka opened talks that will begin a new era in Chinese-Japanese relations.

Negotiations between the premiers of the new China and the new Japan began around a horseshoe-shaped table in Peking's Great Hall of the People shortly after Chou greeted Tanaka at a sparsely attended but cordial airport ceremony.

Tanaka and 51 aides including Foreign Minister Masayoshi Ohira arrived by special jet for a six-day visit during which they will formally recognize the People's Republic. This is expected to precipitate a break in Japan's long-time relations with Nationalist China on Taiwan.

The Japanese arrival, reminiscent of U.S. President Richard Nixon's summit visit last February, was under a bright autumn sky. The Chinese raised the Japanese flag on an airport flagpole half an hour before Tanaka's plane touched down.

The rising sun flag was pulled down in Peking by the Japanese at the Japanese surrender in 1945.

Tanaka stepped out of the plane, hesitated for moment, then walked down the steps to shake hands with Chou.

After brief formalities, the two prime ministers faced the military band at attention while it played Kimigayo, the Japanese national anthem, and the Chinese national anthem.

They then reviewed an honor guard of 360 army, air force, and navy men — exactly the same number turned out for Nixon's visit. Almost the only difference between the two summit arrivals was the weather: It was "winter" when the American president came to Peking.

Fewer security men were along the 18-mile, tree-lined route to Peking than during the Nixon visit. Some knots of people were gathered at street corners in the central part of the city.

The first talks between the two leaders began in early afternoon and lasted 50 minutes followed by a 15-minute recess.

With Tanaka were Ohira and Masao Takashima, director of treaty affairs. Takashima's presence suggested that the meeting quickly got down to discussion of a draft treaty between the two countries.

One pact could be a World War II peace treaty to replace one Japan signed in 1952 with Taiwan.

A Japanese Foreign Ministry spokesman, Shichiro Asao, described the first meeting as "very friendly and in at-home atmosphere."

WR enters hospital

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The office of former Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller said today that Rockefeller entered a New York hospital Sunday night for observation and treatment after the discovery of a cyst that he said indicated signs of a malignancy.

In a memorandum to his employees and friends, Rockefeller, 60, said the cyst was removed from the back of his left armpit recently after he had undergone a physical examination.

"Routinely, the cyst was sent to a pathological laboratory for examination, which indicated signs of a malignancy," the former governor's memorandum said.

Robbery money is recovered

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Federal authorities have recovered $126,280 of the $178,500 stolen in the Tuesday robbery at Harrah's Casino in Lake Tahoe — the largest casino robbery in Nevada history.

Vern Lottier, special FBI agent in charge, said Sunday that the money was found "in the Lake Tahoe area." "We did not reveal how the recovery was made and said the rest of the money had not been located."

Four men were charged in the case Saturday by federal and Douglas County authorities.

Prisoners become campaign issues

by R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer

Three American prisoners of war in Hanoi suddenly have become an issue in the political campaign, amid accusations and counter-accusations by Sen. George McGovern and Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird.

Sen. McGovern said Sunday the Nixon administration was "playing politics" with the three prisoners who apparently have been released by North Vietnam to an anti-war group in Hanoi, but have not yet left the North. He blamed the administration for the delay.

"So I call on Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird and I call on the President of the United States to let these three men come home just as quickly as possible," th) Democratic presidential nominee said in New York.

Laird earlier had charged that the North Vietnamese were using the families of the prisoners—families of two of the prisoners went to Hanoi with the anti-war group—as "propaganda tools."

But after McGovern's criticism of the administration, Laird issued a new statement, saying: "It is a despicable act of a presidential candidate to make himself a spokesman for the enemy." He added that McGovern "knows very well just who it is who has delayed the return of the three American officers..."

The three Americans are Maj. Edward Elias of the Air Force, Lt. Mark L. Gartley of the Navy and Lt. Norris

Charles of the Navy. Relatives of both Charles and Gartley are in North Vietnam.

President Nixon planned to address governor of the World Bank and International Monetary Fund in Washington today. Tuesday, he will go to New York for a speech at the dedication of the American Museum of Immigration.

He also will speak at a Republican fund-raising dinner and then will leave on Wednesday for San Francisco and Los Angeles to address fund-raising dinners there. He worked on the various speeches at his Camp David, Md., retreat on Sunday.

Vice President Spiro Agnew starts an extended week-long campaign swing with an address before the National Defense Transportation Association in San Antonio, Texas, today. He will also be in Illinois, Florida, Mississippi, Louisiana, Tennessee, North Carolina, Virginia and Kentucky this week.

Sargent Shriver, the Democratic candidate for vice president, shook off a cold and fever to visit an ethnic picnic in Pittsburgh Sunday where he said, "We want people to be proud of where they came from."

He praised workers, saying, "They say Carnegie and Mellon built Pittsburgh. I'll tell you who built Pittsburgh; you built Pittsburgh," he said. Shriver was to go on to Texas today.

Agnew setting sights on states considered crucial for victory

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew is setting his sights for the second week of his campaign on three large states—Texas, Illinois and Florida—considered crucial to President Nixon's hopes for a big election victory.

As he did last week, however, Agnew expects to spend much of his time seeking support for Republican Senate and House candidates.

First stop is Texas. Agnew is scheduled to fly to San Antonio today for a speech to the National Defense Transportation Association before going on to Fort Worth.

On Tuesday, he goes to Illinois for appearances in Chicago and downstate Galesburg before returning to Washington Wednesday. Later in the week, he plans a two-day swing to Florida, Mississippi and Louisiana.

In the latter part of last week, Agnew concentrated on plugging for election of Republican senators in four Southern and border states where the Nixon-Agnew ticket is considered far ahead — Tennessee, North Carolina, Virginia and Kentucky.

This week's campaigning is keyed more to building support for the national GOP ticket in three of the nation's eight largest states.

Especially in the South, however, Agnew will try to get support for GOP congressional candidates by linking their Democratic rivals with presidential nominee George McGovern, though in most cases they are shying away from their party's national ticket.

In Texas, Agnew plans to attend a reception tonight for Sen. John G. Tower, who is running for the first time in a presidential year which normally draws a far larger Democratic vote than years in which only state and congressional offices are contested.

Illinois, is a major battleground where both parties are making maximum efforts for its 26 electoral votes. Republican Sen. Charles Percy is favored to win re-election over Democratic Rep. Roman Pucinski But GOP Gov. Richard Ogilvie is an uphill battle for a second term against Democrat Daniel Walker.

Boiling won't nix caffeine

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—Our parents lived in the southern part of Mexico, the Yucatan state. Early in the morning they prepared a big pot of coffee—just plain ground coffee. They never knew about instant coffee and that pot full of coffee was kept near the fire for many long hours. They used to invite everyone coming to the house to have a cup of coffee. The coffee was always slowly boiling. Our people never complained about the caffeine in coffee.

You may have noticed that in the packer's directions for preparing coffee, they say never boil the coffee. We presume the reason has something to do with the flavor. What we would like to know is by boiling the coffee for a long time before drinking it, say 15 minutes or more, can this eliminate the evil effects of caffeine and make the coffee harmless? We must say, by the way, that we seldom drink black coffee. It is usually half or one-third coffee and the rest boiling milk. We don't think much of "caffeine free" coffee and would rather have our own method to make it free ourselves, if that is possible.

Dear Reader—There are three main ingredients in coffee. The caffeine which is a drug and belongs to the same group of drugs as amphetamines commonly called "speed," caffeine responsible for the flavor and tannin, which imparts a bitter taste to coffee. The caffeine and caffeine go into solution just below the boiling point and the tannin enters solution at the boiling point or above. You're correct then in assuming that the directions not to boil the coffee is to protect its flavor. Continued boiling will not eliminate the caffeine. Therefore, the actual coffee that you described contains caffeine and if it has been boiling for hours without added water to dilute it, it can contain a great deal of caffeine.

The habit in Mexico of drinking coffee with milk (cafe au lait) as you described it of course dilutes the coffee a great deal. It decreases the caffeine content in a single cup to about one third the amount obtained in a normal brew, assuming that you used one third brewed coffee and two thirds boiling milk. The caffeine which imparts the flavor to coffee are usually harmless. Decaffeinated commercial coffee products then contain caffeine and tannin and usually have no significant effect on the body, unlike caffeine.

HELEN BOTTEL

Helen Help Us!

Girl Who Came To Dinner

Dear Helen:
An old friend of ours introduced us to his girl friend who seemed perfectly charming. When they broke up she needed a temporary place to stay so I took her in for "a couple of days" which extended to three weeks!

She finally found another roommate, but she left me with a $50 long-distance telephone bill. She also borrowed $40 from me, and three dresses she hasn't returned. I learned today she hit my finance up for a loan too. In all, she owes us about $150. It's been four months.

She has a job and doesn't pay rent or food (her new "roommate" is a man), so she could afford to pay us back. But when I ask her, nicely, she makes me feel cheap, as if all I think of is money. The other day she said the secret of success in her new affair is that they never hassle over finances: "It's too grubby." (Her new b.f. thinks she's wonderful, doesn't know about her freeloading past.)

Without feeling grubby, how do we get our money back? NEEDS IT

Dear N.L.:
Without ACTING "grubby," you may never get your money back. A moocher's first line of defense is "Nice people don't discuss dirty old money," so knock off the niceness and tell this gal the next bill you present will be to her boyfriend. —H.

Dear Helen:
My husband is a straight meat and potatoes man. He doesn't like change. If I try different meals, even another kind of meat rather than beef steak or roast, anguished screams arise.

Yet the other day he informed me that "variety is the spice of life" and I should read up on those sex manuals because the same old thing gets dull.

I don't consider myself "dull" (he doesn't either, really!). We get along great. But Helen, this made me wonder: How come a man who wants the same old dinner every night in the year, isn't happy with the "same" old wife ditto? —NOT AN ACROBAT

Dear Not:
Maybe your husband could counter with this question (in the spirit of good clean banter, naturally): How come a wife who loves to cook "different," rearranges furniture, at the drop of a sofa, and probably nags her man into buying new suits just when the old ones are getting comfortable. . . leaves her change-ability at the bedroom door? —H.

Seaver vs. Carlton: Can't ask for more

Associated Press Sports Writer

Tom Seaver of the New York Mets vs. Steve Carlton of the Philadelphia Phillies. Who could ask for anything more?

The crowd of 41,644 at Shea Stadium Sunday got all it expected from two of the best starting pitchers in baseball—plus a little bonus from Tug McGraw.

Seaver and Carlton struggled through one of those typical low-scoring battles until the Mets finally nipped the Philadelphia southpaw for the winning run in the eighth.

Then along came McGraw to save another game for the Mets, this time 2-1 over the Phillies. The fireman finished with a flourish, striking out the last two batters in the ninth to record his 24th save this year.

The Mets' bullpen star saved a game for the sixth time this season for Seaver, 19-12. Carlton, who's won 25 games for the last-place Phillies, lost his 10th game.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Montreal Expos nudged the Pittsburgh Pirates 2-1; the St. Louis Cardinals trimmed the Chicago Cubs 2-1 in 10 innings; the Cincinnati Reds bombed the Houston Astros 10-2, the San Diego Padres beat the Atlanta Braves 2-1 and the Los Angeles Dodgers blasted the San Francisco Giants 7-0.

In the American League, the California Angels defeated the Minnesota Twins 2-1; the Chicago White Sox clouted the Texas Rangers 7-4; the Baltimore Orioles nipped the Milwaukee Brewers 4-3; the Boston Red Sox shelled the Detroit Tigers 7-2; the New York Yankees took a doubleheader from the Cleveland Indians 5-4 in 11 innings and 8-3 and the Kansas City Royals tripped the Oakland A's 4-2 in the opener of a twin bill but Oakland won the nightcap 2-1.

Last-minute pardon for U of A

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles knows what it feels like to be a death-row inmate who receives a last-minute pardon.

His Razorbacks slipped past Oklahoma State University 24-23 here Saturday night when Eddie Garrett's extra-point attempt struck the right upright and bounced away with six minutes left in the game.

"We were lucky," Broyles said. "We got every break." Broyles said one of the few encouraging spots in the game was the Razorbacks' character. "We very easily could have been behind 14-0 or 21-0 in the first quarter," he said. "Our defense ought to be congratulated for the courage they showed."

The Razorbacks trailed 3-0 at the end of the quarter and were down 10-7 at the half. A 49-yard run for OSU quarterback Brent Blackman put the Cowboys in business at the Arkansas 10 in the first period, but after four downs the ball went over to Arkansas at the one.

Minutes later, OSU took over at the Arkansas 33 after a 28-yard punt but netted only a field goal. On Arkansas' next possession, Darryll Stewart intercepted a Joe Ferguson pass and returned it to the Arkansas 7. On second down, Lewis Campbell recovered an OSU fumble at the 10.

"We're still putting ourselves in a hole," Broyles said. "We continue to make mistakes. We're not a complete football team. We've got to show quick improvement in areas where we are very, very inexperienced."

OSU climbed on top 10-0 early in the second period when they turned a trick play into six points. The Cowboys lined up in punt formation at the Arkansas 40, but the snap went to the short man, who handed to Alfred Nelms on a reverse.

"We worked on the play and the team recognized it and called out the play but our defensive end fell down and we didn't adjust," Broyles said. Arkansas got back in the game, moving 72 yards despite a fumble that Ferguson recovered for a 10-yard loss. The Razorbacks covered the first 67 yards in six plays; the last five in seven plays.

"Unless you can run the football, it's had to score inside the 10 or 15," Broyles said. Arkansas netted only 215 yards rushing while the Cowboys gained 343 from their wishbone. Ferguson added another 190 passing but suffered two interceptions.

"They're playing us for pass every down," Broyles said. "And the pressure on Ferguson is just too much for one young man."

Arkansas' opponents have been successful since the middle of 1971 in allowing the Razorbacks to attempt to run up the middle. Scott Bull, the fullback against OSU, carried only five times for 26 yards but blocked effectively on several occasions.

The man with the most right to optimism is Boston Manager Eddie Kasko, whose team has hung on doggedly to the lead. The Red Sox have been out of first place only one day since Sept. 7 when they took over the lead. Kasko, however, remains non-committal.

"Of course anything can happen," he said, "but it looks like it's going down to the last three." That would be Boston's wrapup series at Detroit Oct. 2-3-4.

header from Cleveland, 5-4 in 11 innings and 6-3.

In other American League games, Oakland reduced its magic number for clinching the West to five. The A's split a doubleheader with Kansas City, losing 4-2 before winning 2-1. Chicago topped Texas 7-4 and California edged Minnesota 2-1.

In the National League, New York nipped Philadelphia 2-1, Montreal edged Pittsburgh 2-1, St. Louis topped Chicago 2-1 in 10 innings, San Diego beat Atlanta 2-1, Cincinnati walloped Houston 10-2 and Los Angeles shut out San Francisco 7-0.

Managers always look at the bright side of things. So, Detroit boss Billy Martin, one behind with eight to play, said, "I like our position very well."

And Jim Palmer, whose 100th career victory kept Baltimore alive, 2 1/2 back with seven left, said, "We've got to win all of our games . . . but we can do it since we play Boston three times at home."

And New York manager Ralph Houk saw a good omen in the Yankee attack that produced 13 runs in the doubleheader sweep against the Indians. "If we can start scoring runs again, we can have some fun. We know we have to win practically every day and we can't worry about what the other clubs do."

The man with the most right to optimism is Boston Manager Eddie Kasko, whose team has hung on doggedly to the lead. The Red Sox have been out of first place only one day since Sept. 7 when they took over the lead. Kasko, however, remains non-committal.

"Of course anything can happen," he said, "but it looks like it's going down to the last three." That would be Boston's wrapup series at Detroit Oct. 2-3-4.

grid quiz

by Dave Nelson, executive secretary, NCAA Football Rules Committee

A UCLA wide receiver on first down and 10 yards to gain runs directly at a USC defender who blocks the receiver before a forward pass is thrown. The receiver, in an attempt to protect himself from the block, uses his hands to push the defender. The pass is incomplete.

The official should:

1. Penalize UCLA 15 yards from the spot of the contact for offensive pass interference.

2. Penalize UCLA 15 yards from the spot of the snap for offensive pass interference.

3. Declare second down and 10 yards to go.

Answer: Number 2. Penalize UCLA 15 yards from the spot of the snap for offensive pass interference.

Rule: (7-3-8) Interference by Team-A or Team-B players is prohibited from the time the ball is snapped until it is touched by any player.

Rule: (9-3-3) The hand may not be used to deliver a blow, grasp, push, or pull an opponent by the team-mate of a runner.

Fightin' Irish: Somewhere between good and great

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON

Associated Press Sports Writer

Whether Ara Parseghian likes it or not, his Notre Dame team seems a cinch to move up in this week's college football ratings following a 37-0 trampling of Northwestern Saturday in their 1972 debut.

"As usual, they're always somewhere between good and great," Northwestern's Alex Agase said of the Fighting Irish, who went into the contest with a No. 13 ranking in The Associated Press poll but unveiled a slick sophomore quarterback in Tom Clements and a fleet of hard-running backs—Darryll Dewan, Eric Penick, John Cieszkowski, Andy Huff—who shredded the Wildcats for 386 yards on the ground.

The No. 13 ranking agreed with Parseghian, although he'll gladly settle for a rise of approximately 12 positions when the final ratings are in.

"I'd rather have it that way than being ranked 1-2-3 because we're relaxed," he said. "When you're ranked high, the pressure is on you."

Perhaps so, but you couldn't tell it from the size of the weekend's scores. Top-ranked Southern California, despite a sluggish start, overwhelmed Illinois 55-20, runner-up Oklahoma buried Oregon 68-3 and third-rated Colorado trimmed Minnesota 38-6.

The crusher of all was ninth-ranked Nebraska's 77-7 destruction of Army while in the only match-up of ranking teams No. 12 Michigan turned back No. 6 UCLA 26-9.

Ohio State, rated fourth, had the weekend off and missed a chance to get in on such fun as fifth-ranked Tennessee's 45-6 trouncing of Wake Forest, seventh-ranked Alabama's 35-0 walloping of Kentucky, No. 8 Louisiana State's 42-17 drubbing of Texas A&M and 10th-rated Arizona State's 56-14 slaughter of Kansas State.

This was supposed to be a rebuilding year for Notre Dame in the wake of heavy graduation losses, but the Irish bolted to a 30-0 halftime lead and Parseghian cleared the bench early in the third period, even using some players who weren't listed on the pregame roster.

Anthony Davis ran for two touchdowns, Mike Rae passed for two and J.K. McKay, Coach John McKay's son, caught a pair as Southern California broke a tie 21 seconds before the half and went on to crush Illinois.

"I told my team at halftime our play was ridiculous," McKay said. "But we came

Royal says league is 'balanced this year'

By DENNE H. FREEMAN

Associated Press Sports Writer Darrell Royal, coach of Texas' defending Southwest Conference champions, just shook his head when someone reviewed the results of the day for him and said:

"I've been trying to tell everybody that the league is more balanced this year."

The SWC blitzed inter-sectional opponents in eight out of nine games Saturday—the best day for the storied loop since Sept. 28, 1935 when it went seven for seven.

Royal, of course, was more concerned about his own team which slogged by Miami 23-10 and Texas Tech—the Longhorns' first SWC opponent this upcoming Saturday in Lubbock. Texas Tech remained undefeated with a 41-16 romp over New Mexico.

"I haven't seen a lot of film on them (Tech) but I've been impressed with what I've seen," Royal said. "I don't know much about our football team. There was nothing you could sink your teeth into. We got 23 points and I'm wondering how. I don't think we made anybody shiver. But I think we can get better."

Texas is seeking its fifth consecutive SWC title.

The team picked by SWC experts to replace Texas in the throne room—Arkansas—outlasted Oklahoma State by a whisker 24-23.

In other games, Texas Christian opened its season with a 31-28 victory over Indiana, Baylor gave new Coach Grant Teaff his first victory 27-0 over Missouri; Southern Methodist remained undefeated 21-14 over Florida; Rice did the same 29-10 over Clemson; and Houston blanked Tulsa 21-0.

Texas A&M put the only smear on the SWC name with a 42-17 loss to Louisiana State. Royal said Texas' play against Miami "was probably the most confusing opener we've had since 1963."

A steady rain contributed to a series of Longhorn and Miami miscues.

Texas senior quarterback Alan Lowry, starting his first game after an All-SWC career as a defensive back, picked up one of his own bobbles and dashed 34 yards in the third period to setup Texas' game-clinching touchdown.

Royal said it looked like "Baylor, Tech, TCU, SMU and Rice are all improved. I just don't know about us. There wasn't anything you could hang your hat on."

The Tech-Texas collision is the only SWC game this weekend.

The loop tries to fatten its 12-6 intersectional record with Rice at Georgia Tech, SMU at Virginia Tech, Army at Texas A&M, Texas-Arlington at TCU, and Tulsa at Arkansas.

Joe Namath: I've had better days throwing the ball

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer
"I know it sounds dumb," Joe Namath grinned, "but I've had better days throwing the ball."
If he has, the Baltimore Colts are probably quite happy they weren't around then, "cause they were around Sunday when Namath demolished them to lead the New York Jets to a 44-34 National Football League victory.

"It wasn't my best day," Namath deadpanned after rolling up an incredible 496 aerial yards and six touchdowns. "Sometimes I threw it short, sometimes I was long and sometimes where I wanted to be."
His first three touchdowns covered 65 yards to Eddie Bell, 67 to John Riggins and 28 to Don Maynard, followed by three to Rich Caster involving plays of 10, 79 and 80 yards respectively.

The six touchdowns fell one short of the NFL record and the yardage—achieved on just 15 completions in 28 attempts—was third best in the league's history for one game.
In Sunday's other games, Buffalo stunned San Francisco 27-20, New England stung Atlanta 21-20, Cleveland topped Philadelphia 27-17, Dallas defeated the New York Giants 23-14, Miami mauled Houston 34-

13, Minnesota mangled Detroit 34-10, Cincinnati slipped past Pittsburgh 15-10, San Diego dumped Denver 37-14, Oakland beat Green Bay 20-14, Washington swatted St. Louis 24-10 and Chicago tied Los Angeles 13-13.
In tonight's nationally televised game, the Kansas City Chiefs take on the Saints in New Orleans.
Johnny Unitas didn't exactly have a dismal day quarterbacking the Colts, despite being thrown for losses six times. He still managed to complete 26 passes, a Baltimore record, for 332 net yards, including touchdown strikes of 40 yards to Sam Havrilak and 22 to Tom Matte.

Don McCauley also scored two Colt touchdowns, one on a one-yard plunge, the other on a 93-yard kickoff return, and Jim O'Brien had field goals of 13 and 32 yards while Bobby Howfield had one of 14 yards for the Jets.

Running back Jim Braxton's second touchdown of the game with less than two minutes to go gave the Bills the points they needed to defeat the 49ers but it was O.J. Simpson and Don Croft who played the key roles.
Simpson rambled for 138 yards on 29 carries and Croft, a defensive tackle obtained last week from Baltimore, kayoed San Francisco quarterback

John Brodie in the second quarter with a jarring tackle that resulted in a sprained left wrist.
Bill Bell of Atlanta was distraught after the Patriots' victory. "I just blew it," he said after missing a 10-yard field goal attempt with 28 seconds to play.
Trailing 20-7 in the fourth quarter, quarterback Jim Plunkett engineered two New England scoring drives.

McGovern getting help from big-name Dems

By GREGG HERRINGTON
Associated Press Writer
George McGovern has been getting some help from big-name Democrats in recent weeks but they apparently have served more to symbolize party unity than to draw big crowds for the McGovern presidential campaign.

Despite the attention attracted by the size of crowds at a series of rallies cosponsored by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy two weeks ago, McGovern generally has been able to draw good sized audiences on his own.

Humphrey of Minnesota was to join McGovern's campaign road show in San Francisco for a stint as special guest star. Humphrey, like Maine Sen. Edmund S. Muskie last week, was one of McGovern's principal opponents in the contest for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Kennedy and Muskie delivered rousing attacks on President Nixon and ringing endorsements of McGovern as they introduced the Democratic candidate at rallies and receptions.

Their styles contrasted with—and complemented—McGovern's.

The best example might have been in Philadelphia last Wednesday night when Pennsylvania Gov. Milton Shapp and Muskie warmed up a dinner audience of campaign contributors.

"If Muskie had been that good all spring he would have won the nomination instead of McGovern," one top McGovern aide quipped later.

McGovern's 25-minute speech that night dealt entirely with the Vietnam war and was widely considered his best address on the subject in months. Some women diners were moved to tears according to a Philadelphia newspaper.

But despite the apparent appeal of the Kennedy-McGovern and Muskie-McGovern performances, there was little evidence the crowds came to hear anyone but McGovern.

With Kennedy especially, newsmen roamed throughout rally audiences in Minneapolis, Chicago, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Detroit and Waterbury, Conn., talking to spectators. They were told that McGovern, not Kennedy, was the attraction for them.

While it was in the presence of Kennedy that McGovern has appeared before his largest string of crowds in any three-day period, he also has never scheduled a similar series.

Coming as they did in Northern, big-city rallies where Democrats are traditionally strong, large crowds would not have been unusual for the party's presidential candidate even without a Kennedy on the card.

Kennedy's role as a party unifier may have been best illustrated in Chicago. There Mayor Richard J. Daley, a long-time close political ally of the Kennedy family, was until recently openly cool to McGovern.

But in Kennedy's presence,

Daley delivered his strongest endorsement of McGovern yet and worked to ensure a large turnout at the rally. A week later, when McGovern went to Chicago without Kennedy, Daley didn't show up.

Nixon lead is increasing

NEW YORK (AP) — A new poll conducted jointly for Time magazine and The New York Times shows President Nixon leading Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern by 39 points — 62 to 23 per cent.

Moreover, the President has overtaken McGovern even among registered Democrats, 43 to 40 per cent, according to the survey released Sunday. It was conducted by Daniel Yankelovich, Inc., between Aug. 25 and Sept. 12.

The 39-point over-all margin represents an 11 percentage point increase over a parallel Yankelovich survey taken a month earlier which showed Nixon ahead by 28 points — 56 to 28 per cent.

Meanwhile, McGovern aides disclosed the results of a private national poll showing the Democratic contender had whittled the Nixon lead from 34 points to 22 points in the past few weeks.

McGovern campaign director Frank Mankiewicz said Sunday that the poll was based on telephone conversations with 1,500 persons nationwide, all of whom had been interviewed in depth earlier.

The Times said there was an indication in the Yankelovich survey that McGovern may have narrowed Nixon's lead during early September but the shift was so small that it could have been accounted for by sampling error.

In the Time-Times poll, 2,329 registered voters in the 16 largest states were interviewed by telephone. The states account for two-thirds of the total electoral vote.

Over-all, the poll showed Nixon ahead among virtually all age groups, social classes, income levels, nationalities and regions.

He led by 34 points among Roman Catholics, 51 points among Protestants, 38 points among independents, 43 points among middle-income voters, 47 points among Italian-Americans and 54 points in the South.

The most dramatic finding was the President's lead among Democrats. In the previous Yankelovich poll, McGovern led among all Democratic voters, 45 to 37 per cent.

Both the Yankelovich poll and another conducted by the Gallup organization for Newsweek magazine showed Nixon ahead nationally among young voters.

The Gallup poll gave Nixon a 52-43 per cent lead among 18-to-24-year-old voters because of an "enormous" lead among Southern youth. But it said McGovern was leading among the young in the East and Midwest and neck and neck among young voters in the West.

Yankelovich found college youth favored McGovern by 53 to 40 per cent while noncollege youth preferred Nixon by 49 to 34 per cent.

Hot Springs takes over AP top spot for week

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Hot Springs, a rugged Class AAA powerhouse, took over the top spot this week in The Associated Press' Arkansas High School football poll.

A case of the blahs:

Oomph of activist branch of federal employees gone

WASHINGTON (AP) — The activist underground, federal employee branch, has a case of the blahs.

At their headiest a few years ago, government employees at odds with Nixon administration policies turned out thousands of marchers against the Indochina war; helped bring down cabinet officer Robert H. Finch; grilled agency heads; circulated petitions; organized countless protest meetings in the bowels of sprawling federal departments.

The loosely knit cadre of mostly white, young and middle-class bureaucrats hit the uptight civil service like a cold shower stuck on "open." Their issues were the war, civil-rights enforcement, poverty, urban reconstruction and what the government wasn't doing about them.

The 1970 Finch case testifies to their former impact. President Nixon removed the secretary of Health, Education and Welfare after more than 2,000 HEW employees demanded a public accounting from Finch of the administration's civil-rights policies.

Today the oomph is gone. The activists' boss-needing underground newsletters appear more irregularly. The brown-bag discussion groups at lunch have lapsed. Few March. Petitions go uncirculated.

"Lobbying is useless and demonstrations are a drag," said Dr. Phil Ross, an antiwar activist at the National Institutes of Health. "We've done what reasonable people could do, and we are disillusioned."

"A lot of government people don't believe in government anymore," said Daniel J. Schuller, a $29,000-a-year federal housing official. He heads the Committee on Urban Priorities and Peace, an employee group at the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

"People are retreating into their own lives and careers; they feel dirty about what they are doing," Schuller said.

A number of antiwar, antipoverty activists have left the government. Others, like Madeleine Golde, have transferred their energies to union organizing.

"There are only so many demonstrations you can go to, only so many petitions you can sign," said the Indian-affairs specialist at the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. "You get stymied, and it's pointless."

"The only way to have change is to have numbers," she said. "And the one thing that has continued to grow is unions."

Bureaucratic activism is by no means dead: But it's written on a smaller tablet these days and has infected new groups, blacks in particular.

So-called task forces against racism have emerged at virtually every federal agency and department in the past two years. These black-led black-constituted groups quickly took over several union locals, pressing demands on government managers for job advancement, training, raises and day care.

Task-force leaders say they are unimpaired by the ideological and political hangups of white liberals and radicals; their sole aim is a bigger slice of the economic pie for the black community.

Jim Robinson, a leader of the HEW task force, calls peace demonstrations "off-the-wall jazz." He professes to find no difference between President Nixon and his Democratic challenger, George McGovern. White activists overwhelmingly favor McGovern.

White unionists from the activist camp are also emphasizing self-interests in organizing lower-paid, predominantly minority employees.

"We consider ourselves basically a bread-and-butter union," said Thomas F. Jennings, president of the OEO local. "The peace groups can't relate to the everyday needs of people. We help them out with grievances, transfers and the like."

"People are beginning to realize that it's better to get half of the Chamber of Commerce on your side than to have a million persons walking down Pennsylvania Avenue in a demonstration."

The ultimate purpose of the organizing? "Participatory management or complete takeover of the agency by employees," answered Jennings who wants to see federal workers control the decision-making processes in their agencies and departments.

Why the new pragmatism and low profile for the movement?

N. Viets step up attacks to gain access to road

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese forces stepped up their attacks below Da Nang today in an apparent effort to gain new access routes to the vital north-south Highway 1 and weaken support for the Saigon government.

Associated Press correspondent Michael Putzel reported that an estimated two North Vietnamese companies numbering up to 200 troops attacked a militia outpost about 25 miles south of Da Nang. The outpost is in a village which has access to Highway 1.

The militia company of 100 men was still holding at last report.

Fifty miles to the south, government troops were reported to have begun an operation aimed at clearing Highway 1 south of Quang Ngai City. About six miles of the highway are cut between the Song Ve bridge and the district town of Mo Duc, 15 miles south of Quang Ngai City.

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces kept up their harassing attacks in Quang Ngai province with rockets and mortars against government outposts.

Officials said the wave of attacks below Da Nang is aimed at destroying the Saigon government's credibility in protecting the population it claims it controls.

Since Aug. 18, the attackers have captured three district towns and several outposts. One town has been recaptured. Thousands of refugees have been left homeless and scores of civilians killed in the cross-fire.

In the northern region above Da Nang, light fighting was reported in Thua Thien and Quang Tri provinces where government troops have launched a 20,000-men sweep operation.

U.S. B52 heavy bombers carried out nearly 20 strikes inside the southern half of North Vietnam in a continuing campaign to cut troop reinforcements and war materials moving across the demilitarized zone to the Quang Tri and Thua Thien battle fronts.

Roy Morgan, a union and antiwar activist at HEW, ticked off some reasons: Nixon administration managers have "killed off the enthusiasm" of idealistic young people who joined the government under the Democrats in 1960s; employment of summer interns from colleges has been cut back, limiting the supply of fresh troops; and "people are sick of the war, sick of hearing about it."

Depressed or not, the activists are still taking some shots at administration managers.

Federal Employees for Peace, an antiwar group, disclosed recently that two high HEW officials responsible for selling U.S. savings bonds to employees had not purchased any themselves.

Al Louis Ripskis, editor of an underground newspaper at HUD, unearthed the comic rivalry between his department and the neighboring Department of Transportation over the height of their flagpoles.

A tip from a carnival worker led to the arrest of Fire's wife, Jennifer Sharon Sims, alias Jennifer Fire, also about 23. She was working at a sideshow in the carnival near Union Springs, in southeast Alabama.

Man who swapped son for car is object of search by authorities

ASHFORD, Ala. (AP) — Police and sheriff's officers maintained a stakeout at a traveling carnival today in hopes of capturing a young man accused of trading his 3-month-old son for a used car in Florida.

"We'll keep men at the carnival for the rest of the week, or until he shows up somewhere else," an Ashford Police Department spokesman said about the search for Eugene Fire, about 23.

The carnival watch began Sunday after the show moved here from Union Springs, La., some 50 miles to the northwest. Bloodhounds hunting for Fire kept following trails back to the carnival, police said.

Officers said Fire escaped into a dense wooded area after his wife was arrested at the carnival Saturday.

At Dothan, a Houston County sheriff's department spokesman, Harvey Woodham, said, "We believe he's still with the carnival. We searched last night about nine hours, and the dogs weren't able to get anything."

At Union Springs, police spokesman Jimmy Martin said Bullock County deputies still were looking for Fire, but police had stopped hunting.

The Ashford officer, who asked that his name not be used, quoted the carnival owner as saying he did not know if Fire was among the booths and

BCH cannot be called definite cancer cure

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP) — Scientists at Oak Ridge National Laboratory caution that a potential breakthrough in the treatment of cancer cannot yet be regarded as the discovery of a complete cure.

The warning was issued during the weekend as a barrage of telephone calls came to the laboratory after it announced that the bacterial agent BCG had been found "100 per cent effective" in treating cancer in animals.

2 prisoners, 1 from Arkansas, questioned

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Post-Dispatch said in its edition Sunday that two United States prisoners of war in North Vietnam, who were recently interviewed, demonstrated good health and said they have been treated well.

The article by Richard Dudman, chief Washington correspondent who recently returned from Hanoi, identified the prisoners as Air Force Capt. George Alan Rose of Fayetteville, Ark., and Air Force lieutenant Richard Fulton of Mesa, Ariz.

Dudman took pictures of the two during what he called "a carefully stage-managed meeting" Sept. 12.

Dudman said he asked to visit a prisoner-of-war camp not yet visited by any other news correspondent or intermediary trying to arrange for release of POWs. Instead, he wrote, the men were brought to a government office two blocks from his hotel in downtown Hanoi.

The newspaper article said that neither the 30-year-old Rose nor Fulton apparently had been interviewed before and both were listed as missing until Sen. Edward Kennedy obtained a list of officers captured in June and July of this year.

Rose told Dudman he had been shot down on June 21 and was not injured except for a small cut on the jaw. Rose said the cut has healed now.

Both men said they tried to hide after being shot down, but that they were found by civilians. They said they were allowed to write home.

Dudman said he was not allowed to ask political questions but the men were allowed to make statements.

People in the News

NEW YORK (AP) — Margaret Leech Pulitzer, 78, author and widow of journalist Ralph Pulitzer, is in fair condition at a local hospital with second and third-degree burns suffered in an electrical fire in her apartment.

Mrs. Pulitzer was burned on the hands and feet in a fire early Sunday at her Fifth Avenue apartment, fire officials said.

The author of several books and short stories, Mrs. Pulitzer won Pulitzer Prizes in history in 1942 and 1960.

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI has praised "the search for new forms of religious music not unworthy of the past" before 4,000 singers from 70 schools of religious music throughout Italy.

The Pope called community singing an important element in the people's participation in the liturgy. He spoke after celebrating Mass in St. Peter's Basilica.

Nearly 20,000 Romans and tourists attended the Mass, which marked the 100th anniversary of the birth of Lorenzo Perosi, a priest credited with contributing greatly to the renewal of religious music.

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP) — Author Pearl Buck has been admitted to Vermont Medical Center after her doctor reported she developed abdominal discomfort while recuperating from pleurisy at her home in Danby.

A hospital spokesman said Miss Buck, 80, was undergoing tests and was resting comfortably. The pleurisy attack caused her to be hospitalized in Rutland last July.

PALM DESERT, Calif. (AP) — Georgia Skelton, the estranged wife of comedian Red Skelton, is reported in satisfactory condition at Eisenhower Medical Center where she is being treated for a blood infection.

Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — The good news concerning a moderation in the rate of price increases is going to be difficult to accept for many Americans who look for more.

The good news is that consumer price rises have now slowed to a rate that, if continued for a year, would result in an increase of only 2.4 per cent in the goods and services used in everyday living.

In fact, that rate was approached in the 12 months that ended with July, when the rise dropped to 2.9 per cent from a 1969-1970 peak of 5.9 per cent.

The rate of price increases has generally been downhill since February 1969, when the consumer price index reached a 6.4 per cent annual rate of increase, a rate that threatened domestic and international stability.

What is difficult to accept is the notion that there should be solace at all in rising prices.

A study by Morgan Guaranty Trust shows not one consumer category in which prices fell in the 12 months that ended with July. And within the various categories, only six products out of 37 declined.

The price of cereals and baking products actually fell 0.3 per cent, mortgage interest declined 0.2, new automobile prices 2.5, used automobile prices 0.7, auto insurance rates 1.1, and railroad fares 3.5 per cent.

Besides government intervention in the form of price regulations, Washington's restraining hand—rather than purely economic factors—are involved in some of those declines.

It is a fact of modern economic life that the shopper will find few, very few, actual declines in prices. Instead, he must content himself with measuring a price improvement by a slowing in the rate of increase.

By this standard, real improvements were made in the past year. Morgan Guaranty demonstrates this by comparing the rate of rise for the 12 months ended February 1970, when the price peak was reached, and the rate of increase for the 12 months that ended with July 1972.

By this method of figuring, improvements have taken place in the categories of food, housing, apparel and upkeep, transportation and health and recreation, and in a total of 34 products within those categories.

Patterson is guest of Hope Rotary Club

"What Ever Happened to the Old Razor Strap?", Larry Patterson, Hempstead County Juvenile Court Referee, asked the Hope Rotary Club at its luncheon meeting Friday, in the Town and Country in a talk about the juvenile problem in Hempstead County. Introduced by County Judge Finis Odom, the speaker answered his question by saying, "We've hung it in the closet and replaced it with a baby sitter."

He said that by solving the problem of young law-breakers we not only save the children and, therefore, the future of our city, state and nation, but also we save ourselves money by not having to rehabilitate older criminals. "In most cases," he said, the juvenile criminal of today is the adult criminal of tomorrow." This is not always true because some juvenile offenders are helped through efforts of the court and other interested people. The best way for changes to be wrought, however, is through the care and guidance of parents and others in the home.

Last week's student guest, Billy McCorkle, introduced a classmate, at Hope High Mike Waters. Two visiting Rotarians, Jimmie Ligon of Conway and Frank Key of Shreveport, were at the meeting. Vice-president Bob Gullett welcomed all of those mentioned and several other guests, Kenneth Keith of Brownsville, Tex., the Rev. C.C. Truitt and the Rev. Bob Breckman.

Familiar names in racing back in saddle

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer
The familiar names were back in the saddle in auto racing during the weekend, including millionaires Richard Petty, Bobby Unser and Jackie Stewart.

And, though he didn't get to victory circle, old-timer Joe Leonard won his second consecutive United States Auto

Club driving championship. Unser, the world's fastest driver on a closed course, won the Trenton 300 for Indianapolis-type championship cars. Stewart captured the Canadian Grand Prix for the second straight year and Petty did what he has been doing for years. He bided his time and knocked everybody off during the late stages to win a 262-mile stock car race at Martinsville, Va.

Stewart, the wee Scot who let the world's driving title slip through his hands this year to Brazil's Emerson Fittipaldi, kept his Tyrrell-Ford in front for all but four laps of the Formula 1 race at Mosport Park, Ont.

En route to his third Grand Prix triumph of the year, Stewart set a lap record of 1 minute, 16.1 seconds for the 2.45-mile Mosport circuit, for 116.328 miles per hour.

It also was one of his better paydays, $25,000.

New Yorker Pete Revson came in second in a McLaren, winning $15,000, while his McLaren teammate, Denis Hulme, came in third for $12,000.

Petty, down by a lap at one time, kept his Plymouth in contention at Martinsville and, when Bobby Allison ran into trouble with 32 miles to go, roared into the lead and was never headed.

Allison's Chevrolet brushed against another car on the 445th lap, cutting a tire. His pit stop for a replacement cost him the lead.
